Birthday Marked By Celebration Over City

Celebrating the birthday anniversary of His Imperial Japanese Majesty Mutsuhito in Hawaii, the Consul-General Senichi Uyeno today expressed to the Bulletin the friendly relations which exist today between his Island Empire and that of the United States. He said at the Consulate-General, that the two countries, the United States and Japan, are enjoying a much closer relationship today than ever before. He expressed his greatest pleasure at the acceptance by Admiral W. C. Cowles, U. S. N., and Brigadier-General M. M. Macomb, U. S. A., of the invitation to join in the receiving line tonight, during the reception to be given at the Young Hotel. Their attitude in the matter, Consul-General Uyeno says, is indicative of the fact that they, as the highest officials of the navy and army of the United States here in Hawaii, are not only willing, but anxious to make the occasion one which will aid in the perpetuation of the friendly relationship between the two nations.

Promptly at 9 o'clock this morning, the Consul-General received hundreds of Japanese school children on the third floor of the Consulate where they paid their respects to the Mikado's representative in Hawaii. As they entered the hall, they first turned to the portraits of Emperor Mutsuhito and the Empress of Japan and bowed deeply. This done, they bowed to the Consul-General, who wore full uniform. Consul-General Uyeno's uniform was brilliant, his breast was adorned with many medals.

WORK STARTS ON BISHOP ESTATE RECLAMATION

The Bishop Estate is not waiting for the government to come along and order its low lands filled. It has closed negotiations in a rush with the Honolulu Construction & Draying Company for an important reclamation scheme in the Kalia district, and this morning work was begun. W. H. Hoops of the contracting firm says that it will be carried on without a halt until completed.

PAC. ENG. CO. TO BUILD BLOCK

With a bid of $18,275, the Pacific Engineering Company was the lowest bidder today when tenders were opened in the offices of Emory & Webb for the building that the C. M. Cooke Estate, Ltd., will erect on the corner of Beretania and Nuuanu, recently bought from the Macfarlanes.

The other figures were: Honolulu Planning Mill, $18,890; Evans, $18,495; Chapin, $19,380; J. Walker, $22,700; Lord-Young Engineering Company, $19,200.

The building is to be one-story, of concrete, with about 90 feet frontage on each street.

The Secret Service believes that a dangerous gang of counterfeiters is operating on the Pacific Coast.

Machinery Of Big Campaign Starting

The complex machinery that is intended to sweep the town free of the mosquito and which will be in full swing next week is already starting. Plans are just about complete. While the district of the city is going forward with all speed, the other branches of the work are not delayed. Arrangements were completed this morning by which forty non-commissioned officers of Uncle Sam's troops here will be ready to take charge of the mosquito squads. Equipment and supplies are being ranged for.

The "educative campaign" is broadening each day. The committee in charge, A. Lewis, Jr., and Dr. W. C. Doyle, are showing its success in selling due to the location and development of the property instead of salesmen and advertising, but it appears from the activity and results of last Sunday would put us out of business, but instead we have done more people every day, and as a result over $10,000 in Kaimuki lots have been re-tailed during the past week.

BIG SALES OF KAIMUKI LOTS MADE

Not since its organization has the Kaimuki Land Company experienced such activity in suburban property as has suddenly developed during the past two weeks. Four special representatives—Walter Doyle, E. L. Hutchinson, Walter Bradley and C. H. Johnson—were probably the busiest men in Honolulu. With three automobiles in their disposal, they show Kaimuki property to an average of about fifteen people every day, and as a result over $10,000 in Kaimuki lots have been re-tailed during the past week.

Rougier Is Here; Sale Reported "Pressure" Mackall Swears

Father Rougier, known all over the South Seas and for the past three years owner of Washington and Fanning Islands "down under the line" in Honolulu. He arrived from the mainland several days ago.

According to report, he has practically negotiated the sale of the two islands to a British syndicate. Of this, however, he preferred to say nothing this morning, beyond stating that he cannot make definite announcement at this time.

When Father Rougier arrived here on his way to the mainland and from there to Europe some six months ago, the story came out that his visit was in connection with the sale of the two islands. After he left, a report, believed to have started from his journey to Europe, came that the sale had actually been made.

Father Rougier himself, however, is the only man who can speak with authority about a deal that has stirred the curiosity of all the South Seas and it is probable that the details are not closed yet.

He expects to charter a vessel here next week and sail away for his island home on Fanning. He said this morning that he has not completed the charter yet. It was suggested that perhaps he might be going to charter the Ka Mo, the schooner in which Judge Cooper and Capt. Miller once set off for the treasure island of Palmyra, but he intimated that he does not intend to do so.

Father Rougier has spent most of thirty years in the South Seas and is known in practically every group. He is a priest and his activities have been many and strong in his work.

Dr. Bruce McV. Mackall, former city and county physician, in a sworn deposition in the circuit court, this morning made the remarkable statement that his action in closing the polio shops of the city a few months ago when cholera broke out was taken because of pressure brought to bear by the board of health and not because, in his opinion, there was any danger of cholera spread from polio.

Dr. Mackall's deposition is expected to play an important part in the suits brought by Chinese polio factory-men against the city and county to recover damages for loss of business when the shops were closed down.

The cholera outbreak was responsible for Mackall's resignation from the city physicianship. It was shown that polio shops had been allowed to open after they were ordered closed, and the resulting of the disclosures was the principal factor in the physician's resignation. He has always contended that the closing of the shops was not necessary.

He expects to leave Honolulu Wednesday next and it was therefore necessary to take his depositions. He stated that in his opinion, at the time, there was absolutely no need for the polio shops to be closed down as there was no danger coming from them.

The only reason that such action was taken was that the pressure brought to bear by the Territorial board of health was so great that the city authorities had to do something, he states. He went before the city sanitation committee on April 12 and asked them if they would back him up if he closed the shops down as asked by the board of health. They said that they would and the action taken was following on this assurance.

TREASURE SCHOONER PASSES TO POSSESSION OF JAPANESE

The little schooner Ka Mo, the property of Captain Frederick Miller, has passed into the possession of a lot of local Japanese.

The Ka Mo, which on a recent voyage was completely outfitted for a treasure-hunting expedition to the South Seas, under the direction of Captain Miller and Judge Henry E. Cooper, has had a long and varied career in Hawaiian waters.

The Japanese syndicate has agreed to pay $2500 for the vessel, and a portion of this sum, sufficient to bind the bargain, was turned over to Captain Miller some days ago.

All sorts of rumors have been set afloat during the past few days concerning the mission of the Ka Mo under the direction of her new owners. It has been stated that the Japanese would again fit the vessel for an extended voyage to islands which lie far and away to the southward of Hawaii. It has also been said that one of the local fishing companies was at the back of the proposition, and that the schooner would be used as an auxiliary fishing boat.

Another report was to the effect that the Japanese intended to enter the inter-island trade and keep the vessel running between Honolulu and ports on Hawaii, engaging in about the same sort of trade as did the ill-fated Mo Wahine, which was struck by the lighthouse tender Kukui and afterwards foundered with all save her captain on board.

This morning the Japanese who contributed funds for the purchase of the schooner stated that the vessel was to be placed in a trade of bringing wood from neighboring islands to Honolulu market, and they expect to work up a large and lucrative business along these lines.

It is pretty generally understood that the vessel went for a very conservative figure, when the apparent seaworthiness of the boat is taken into consideration.

The matter of fixing up the license for the Waialeale water plans in connection with the big tunnel that the Oahu Sugar plantation is planning to run through is now nearly finished.

"It is just in its last legs," stated the Governor this morning, "and we have got down to that stage when we can start drafting out the proposed license."
